FOREWORD

To you, the students of Caroline, we present the 1955 Cardinal.
May it remind you of many happy days spent in learning and laughter.

The Staff.

Dedication

In sincere appreciation of his guidance, teaching, unselfish co-operation in student activities, and friendship, we of the Annual Staff gratefully dedicate this edition of the Cardinal to Mr. John Q. Peers.

"We can always count on Mr. Peers."

CLASS HISTORY

Planted as seeds at Caroline High
In the 8th Grade we were so shy
There was little to do, we had lots of fun,
And the homework we had was quickly done.

Watered with guidance in Freshman year,
Soon, as green shoots, we began to appear.
In many activities took we a part
And that was the year when the annual did start.

By the rare air of learning we soon were surrounded
Becoming members of Beta Club, recently founded
Saplings were we in our Sophomore year
And our Forensic winners did heartily cheer.

Our Junior days very rapidly went
As bids to the Seniors for the Banquet we sent
Many activities opened before us
As some of us joined in the newly formed chorus.

Now as strong trees we Seniors will stand
Ready to serve our wonderful land
Our play is over, and with our store of knowledge
We face toward the world, to work or to college.

INSTRUCTIONS: Make out this entry blank for any or each publication submitted to the League publications contests. DEADLINE FOR ALL PUBLICATIONS - NOT LATER THAN FEBRUARY 15. (Yearbook entries - this year's contest for last year's book. Send entry any time after publication and preferably in early fall.)

Three copies of blank included. Schools are asked to use carbon on plain paper, if they want a copy for school files. Mail publication in package with entry blank in separate envelope attached to outside of package so package will go second class. Mail to League office: Box 1487, University Station, Charlottesville, Virginia.

Mathematical Induction

Let $P(n)$ be a statement involving a natural number n . To prove that $P(n)$ is true for all natural numbers n , we use the principle of mathematical induction. This principle consists of two steps: the base case and the inductive step.

Base Case: We first prove that $P(1)$ is true. This is the starting point of the induction. If $P(1)$ is true, then we can proceed to the inductive step.

Inductive Step: We assume that $P(k)$ is true for some natural number k . This assumption is called the inductive hypothesis. We then prove that $P(k+1)$ is true. If we can show that $P(k+1)$ is true whenever $P(k)$ is true, then by the principle of mathematical induction, $P(n)$ is true for all natural numbers n .

For example, let $P(n)$ be the statement "the sum of the first n natural numbers is $\frac{n(n+1)}{2}$ ". We can prove this statement using mathematical induction.

Base Case: For $n=1$, the sum of the first 1 natural number is 1, and $\frac{1(1+1)}{2} = 1$. So $P(1)$ is true.

Inductive Step: Assume $P(k)$ is true, i.e., the sum of the first k natural numbers is $\frac{k(k+1)}{2}$. We need to show that $P(k+1)$ is true, i.e., the sum of the first $k+1$ natural numbers is $\frac{(k+1)(k+2)}{2}$.

The sum of the first $k+1$ natural numbers is the sum of the first k natural numbers plus $k+1$. By the inductive hypothesis, this is $\frac{k(k+1)}{2} + (k+1)$.

$$= \frac{k(k+1) + 2(k+1)}{2}$$

$$= \frac{(k+1)(k+2)}{2}$$

So $P(k+1)$ is true. By the principle of mathematical induction, $P(n)$ is true for all natural numbers n .

Mathematical induction is a powerful tool for proving statements about natural numbers. It is often used in number theory, algebra, and calculus.

For example, we can use mathematical induction to prove that the sum of the first n odd natural numbers is n^2 .

Base Case: For $n=1$, the sum of the first 1 odd natural number is 1, and $1^2 = 1$. So $P(1)$ is true.

Inductive Step: Assume $P(k)$ is true, i.e., the sum of the first k odd natural numbers is k^2 . We need to show that $P(k+1)$ is true, i.e., the sum of the first $k+1$ odd natural numbers is $(k+1)^2$.

The sum of the first $k+1$ odd natural numbers is the sum of the first k odd natural numbers plus $2k+1$. By the inductive hypothesis, this is $k^2 + (2k+1)$.

$k^2 + (2k+1) = k^2 + 2k + 1 = (k+1)^2$. So $P(k+1)$ is true. By the principle of mathematical induction, $P(n)$ is true for all natural numbers n .

Mathematical induction is a fundamental technique in mathematics. It is used to prove the truth of statements that depend on the natural numbers.

It is a powerful tool for proving theorems in many areas of mathematics.

Mathematical induction is a key concept in the foundations of mathematics.

It is a technique that is used to prove the truth of statements about the natural numbers.

Mathematical induction is a method of proof that is used to establish the truth of a statement for all natural numbers.

The principle of mathematical induction states that if a statement is true for $n=1$ and if the truth of the statement for $n=k$ implies the truth of the statement for $n=k+1$, then the statement is true for all natural numbers n .

This principle is the basis of mathematical induction. It is used to prove the truth of many mathematical statements.

Mathematical induction is a powerful tool for proving the truth of statements about the natural numbers. It is a technique that is used to establish the truth of a statement for all natural numbers.

Band

The Caroline High School Band has been organized for several years. Members of the band are from Caroline and Lee Maury schools.

This year a junior band was started in order to provide training and experience for pupils planning to play with the band.

A Spring concert will be given by the band and junior band and it is hoped that this will become an annual event.

JUNIOR BAND

Beta Club

The motto of the Caroline Beta Club "Ducamus Allus Serviando" (let us lead by serving others) best describes the purpose of this organization. Its members strive to promote honesty, leadership, and service among all students.

The Beta Club is an honorary organization. In order to become a member a student must be a sophomore, a junior, or senior, have a scholastic average of "S" or above, have a commendable character and attitude, and have 18 points by the point system. Our only member this year was Randolph Farmer.

The Beta Club has as its main project this year sponsoring a $100 scholarship for a deserving graduate. These funds are being raised by means of a newspaper, The Spectator and sale of candy bars at basketball games.

Caroline High School opened its 1954 Football Season with its fine new coach, Fritz Laurinaitis. The Cardinals had a most successful season with seven victories and only one upset. There were only thirty-three points scored against the Cardinals for their two hundred eighteen. The highest scorer was Freddie Schools with a record of one hundred points. There were only two seniors on the team; therefore, we can expect an equally successful season next year.

The Cardinals were champions this year with Joe Pitts and Gregg Broadus as Forwards, Joe Lanford at center, with James Mason and Oddie Carneal as guards, who, through misfortune, were replaced by Mike Hall and Johnson Coleman. The top player was Joe Pitts, who was the only veteran, with an average of 21 points per game. Coach Laurinaitis seems to be doing fine with only one defeat in football and a clean record in basketball.

The thrill of the year was the club's trip to Lexington to compete with Chatham for the State Group III Championship.
